A new fleet of 18,000 apple green cabs Boro Taxis will be able to pick up passengers outside Manhattan. [0] "In the age of speed, the skyscraper has petrified the city. [1] Anyone can do it a skyscraper based on the Chinese pagoda and/or a Tuscan hill town. [2] Perhaps the gloss of a beckoning fruit obliterates and outshines any blemishes that, the apple once eaten into and its core now perching exposed on the sideboard, conspire to make it look rotten, or if not rotten then at the very least spotted with flaws. [3] In this way the district round the skyscraper is cleared. [4] So I snatched it from him, and he wept and said, "O youth, this apple is my mother's and she is ill. [5] Runge proved that he could identify the presence of henbane, belladonna and thorn apple in one of a number of bottles, by dropping the suspect solutions into a cat's eye. [6] The new laws, called Zone Green, allow greenhouses to be erected on roofs, along with solar panels and wind turbines; they also promote gardens and local food production, and in general address the wider needs of retrofitting the city, of making greener the city we have in hand. [7] The skyscraper has reestablished the pedestrian, him alone.... [8]
